The Speakers

Dr. Danny Ammon
*Head of data integration center
At jena university hospital*

Dr. Denny Ammon is the Head of the Data Integration Center at Jena University Hospital, Thuringia, Germany. He was working at the interface between research and supply in the areas of structured medical documentation, interoperability, and process management. Dr. Denny Ammon obtained his Doctor of Engineering (Dr.-Ing.) in Medical Informatics at Ilmenau University of Technology (2006 - 2013). His work experience at Jena University Hospital during six years and 11 months as Head of the Data Integration Center from January 2018 until the Present. He was a Student Assistant from September 2005 to November 2005 at Ilmenau University of Technology.

Prof. Mallika Imwong
Mahidol University, Thailand

Professor Mallika Imwong is a Head of the Department of Molecular Tropical Medicine and Genetics at Mahidol University. In 2021, Prof Malika Obtained her Ph.D. (Tropical Medicine) from the Faculty of Tropical Medicine, Mahidol University, Thailand. Molecular Characterisation of Drug Resistance in Human Malaria, CGenotyping of Plasmodium vivax, Pharmacogenetic basis of Oseltamivir, and G6PD genotyping. Her current research project is about Principle investigator: Wellcome Trust Career Development Research Fellowship in Public Health and Tropical Medicine, Wellcome Trust of Great Britain Title: 'Molecular Characterisation of Drug Resistance in the Human Malarias' during

Chi-Wen Lung, Ph.D
Asia University

Chi-Wen Lung, Ph.D., is a Professor in the Department of Creative Product Design and an affiliate of the Department of Bioinformatics and Medical Engineering at Asia University, Taiwan. 2008 Dr. Lung obtained his Ph.D. in Biomedical Engineering from National Yang-Ming University, Taiwan. He completed his Postdoctoral training at the Information Technology Research Center of Sports and Health, Institute of Intelligent Machines, Chinese Academy of Sciences, Hefei, China. He developed advanced rehabilitation research instruments there. In 1995 and 1997, he earned BS and MS in Industrial Design from Dayeh University and Tatung University, Taiwan. Dr. Lung was a Supervisor in the Job Accommodation Office, Bureau of Labor Affairs, Taipei City Government, Taipei, Taiwan. Around sixty peer-reviewed journal, articles have been published by Dr. Lung. His research examines the interface pressure distribution between humans and orthoses and its role in soft tissue injury. It is possible to improve the design of sports shoes and wheelchair cushions using his approach. Further, he is interested in human-machine interfaces and their application to sports biomedical devices. He is a member of the Taiwanese Society of Biomechanics.
