ABSTRACT:

This study aims to identify the extent of the historical attachment of colonial buildings in conservation areas, especially in the Old City of Jakarta. This research is part of a multi- year study that examines historical attachments in conservation areas as the main topic and discusses several case studies. Fatahillah Museum has been taken as a case study which located in the Old City area of Jakarta. The idea of this research is based on the existence of social and cultural phenomena in the community concerning conservation of architecture for historic buildings. The community in Jakarta as a metropolitan city has a direct impact on the implementation of the concept of building conservation. Bv diaaina un information from
